INTRODUCTION/STANDARDS OF CONDUCT

INTRODUCTION

Rutgers, The State University of New Jersey, referred to hereinafter as “the University”, is committed to supporting student organizations which permit and foster students’ ability to freely associate and express themselves. This support is formalized through the University recognition system, which has been put in place to serve the interest of both the University and student organizations. Student organizations that choose to be recognized by the University, accept the rights and responsibilities outlined in this policy and in their organization’s governing department. An organization that is only registered under an academic department may be held accountable under this policy. The Standards of Conduct for Registered/Recognized Student Organizations; written to govern New Brunswick, Camden, and Newark campuses, does not replace the policies and sanctions implemented by an organization’s governing department or by any applicable federal, state, or local laws, or other University policies.

STANDARDS OF CONDUCT

All student organizations are expected to act consistently with the values of the University community. Student organizations are collectively responsible for any action committed by their members on behalf of the organization that violates University policy. Disciplinary action against a student organization is separate from action taken against individuals. Facts of an incident may necessitate action against both a student organization and the individual members of that organization who may have violated University policy.

CRITERIA USED TO DETERMINE WHETHER AN ALLEGATION IS AN ORGANIZATIONAL VIOLATION

1. Generally, a recognized student organization may be held responsible for violations of University Policy when:
   a. One or more officers, acting within the scope of their stated or written duties, commit a violation;
   b. One or more members commit a violation as part of an activity or assignment voted on by the organization and/or approved by the local, regional, or national leadership;
   c. The violation is committed at an activity funded by the organization or by an individual in the name of the organization;
   d. The violation is committed by members attending a function as a representative of the University, including, but not limited to, competitions, conferences, and conventions;
   e. Members or officers permit, encourage, aid, or assist, in committing a violation;
   f. Members or officers fail to report knowledge or information about a violation to appropriate University authorities;
   g. Members or alumni commit a violation in the name of the organization.

INVESTIGATION PROCESS, PROCEDURES, AND REPORTS

INVESTIGATION PROCESS AND PROCEDURES:

An organization may be accused of violating the Standards of Conduct for Student Organizations through two methods: information obtained through an Investigation of another disciplinary matter, an individual’s Administrative Conference, and/or a report submitted/referred to The Office. The following procedures set forth the applicable process for investigating an organization’s alleged violation(s) of the Standards of Conduct.

Level 1 Investigation: In some cases, The Office becomes aware of possible organizational violations while conducting an Investigation and/or an Administrative Conference for an individual student’s disciplinary case. These matters typically involve, but are not limited to: alcohol, financial misconduct, physical misconduct, and other health and safety matters. When this occurs, The Office assigns a Conduct Officer to determine organizational involvement in the matter. These investigations may be conducted by any trained Conduct Officer.

The Conduct Officer will gather as many details as possible pertaining to the incident. Please note; if the information is gathered from an individual, that individual student has the right to serve as a Confidential Witness in these matters.

For Level 1 Investigations, the following procedure shall be followed:

- Once the Conduct Officer concludes the Investigation they will determine whether the preponderance of the evidence supports charging the organization with a violation.
- If the preponderance of the evidence supports charging the organization, a charge letter; which provides a brief synopsis of the incident, applicable charges, and recommended sanctions will be sent to the organization’s president and advisor(s) of record. The report leading to the finding will be attached.
- The organization will be provided with a deadline to hold their Organization Conference (OC) with the Conduct Officer and submit information disputing the report and charges.
  - In cases where the organization is deciding to accept responsibility for the charges presented, they are encourage to attend the meeting with the Conduct Officer with their own proposed sanctions to be taken into consideration.
- The Conduct Officer will review all information and provide the organization’s leadership with an outcome letter. The letter will either be a new “charge letter” or a notification that the matter is closed.
- The organization will be provided a deadline to respond to the charges, if applicable.
  - If the organization is charged with violations of the Standards of Conduct and chooses to not take responsibility for the charges and accept the sanctions during the OC, the organization will be afforded the opportunity to move to an Organization Hearing (OH). Please note, organizations may take responsibility for the charges, but request a hearing to address the sanctions.

Level 2 Investigation: Level 2 investigations are initiated when a report alleging serious matters of misconduct occur such as, but not limited to; hazing. These Investigations may be led by more than one Conduct Officer.

- The organization representative (typically the President) will receive written communication with directives informing the organization of any limitations The Office has placed on the organization during the investigation process, this letter is known as a Cease and Desist (C&D). The limitations will be based on the nature of the complaint.
- Interviews will occur on the same day as the notification, if practical.
• Investigators will determine who is necessary to interview and they will be called individually to a private location to meet. Those individuals will be notified of the time and location of the meeting via their University email. ONLY Class schedules will be taken into consideration when scheduling meetings. Any individual who refuses to cooperate with the investigation process may be charged with Code of Student Conduct violation: Failure to Comply.

• Once the individual’s meeting with the Investigator(s) has concluded they will be dismissed. They will not be permitted to re-enter the waiting room.

For Level 2 Investigations, the following procedures shall be followed:

• Upon the conclusion of the investigation, the organization leadership will be scheduled for an Organization Conference.
  o The investigation report will be provided to the organization prior to the OC so that they have adequate time to prepare.
  o Organizations may be given the opportunity to make recommendations regarding disciplinary sanctions; so they should come prepared with those suggestions.

• Organizations are to bring any information and witnesses they wish to dispute the charges to the OC.
  o If witnesses cannot physically appear, they may submit a written statement. This statement must be notarized or certified by a member of The Office prior to submission.

• The Conduct Officer will take all information provided at the OC into consideration and provide the organization’s leadership with an outcome letter. The letter will either be a “charge letter” or a notification that the matter is closed.

• The organization will be provided a deadline to respond to the charges, if applicable.
  o If the organization is charged and does not take responsibility after the OC, the organization will be afforded the opportunity to move to an Organization Hearing (OH).

At the conclusion of the investigation, the investigating Conduct Officer(s) will have 3 Working Days to prepare the investigation report. The Conduct Officer(s) will provide a copy of the report to the organization’s corresponding department representative, organization’s leadership, and advisor(s). Please Note: the conclusion of interviews is not an indicator that the investigation process has concluded. If the findings of the investigation does not meet the evidence standard (preponderance), the matter will be considered closed and the organization will be provided with written notification of the closure, which will also include the removal of any interim restrictions that were placed on the organization. Please note, The Office reserves the right to re-open a case if new information presents itself.
An organization has four options for resolution of allegations of misconduct: Organization Conference, Organization Hearing, Informal Resolution, or Restorative Justice. The Conduct Officer overseeing the matter, in conjunction with the organization’s governing department will determine the route which the matter is addressed.

Informal Resolution Options:

In some cases, the organization’s violation may be settled outside of the conduct process. The use of this resolution option will be at the discretion of The Office.
